Excess Goods Waiver

We kindly bring to your attention that the removal services provided cannot accept liability if your possessions do not fit into your new premises due to limited access or because the volume of goods exceeds the available space.

The responsibility to ensure that all items will fit into the new location rests with you as the client. This includes but is not limited to, making certain that there is sufficient access for the delivery of the goods and that the volume of the goods is suitable for the size of the new property.

By signing this waiver, you acknowledge and agree that the removal service shall not be held accountable for any issues arising from inadequate access or excess volume of goods. It is strongly recommended that you assess the size and access of your new property before the removal service to avoid any potential problems.

This waiver does not diminish or affect your statutory rights under applicable laws. However, it serves to clarify the extent of the responsibilities of the removal service provider.

Your cooperation and understanding are greatly appreciated.
